

GlowUp Marketing Campaign ROI Dashboard

Recommendations:

- Increase investment in high-ROI channels.
- Improve conversion-focused targeting for low-performing campaigns.
- Prioritize channels with lower CPA and stronger lead quality.
- Optimize campaign timing around high-performing months.

1.Certain marketing channels generate significantly stronger ROI despite lower campaign spend. 2. Some campaigns produce high lead volumes but weaker conversion rates, indicating targeting or messaging inefficiencies. 3. Revenue trends show seasonal spikes during promotional periods, suggesting opportunities for campaign timing optimization. [Insights]

Insights:

1. Some marketing channels consistently achieve high ROI while maintaining lower customer acquisition costs.
2. Higher marketing spend does not always translate into stronger returns, indicating diminishing efficiency in certain campaigns.
3. Efficient channels combine strong conversion performance with lower CPA and should receive higher future investment.

Recommendations:

- Increase budget allocation toward high-ROI, low-CPA channels.
- Reduce spend on channels with weak ROI performance.
- Focus on conversion optimization before increasing campaign spend.
- Test smaller targeted campaigns before scaling budgets aggressively.

Insights: 1.Certain channels consistently outperform others in terms of ROI, conversion efficiency, and customer acquisition cost. 2.Some high-spend campaigns fail to generate proportional revenue returns, indicating inefficient budget allocation. 3 .Channels with lower CPA and stronger conversion rates should receive greater strategic investment in future campaigns.

Quick Wins:

- Increase spend on high-ROI channels.
- Pause or optimize low-performing campaigns.
- Improve targeting for expensive acquisition channels.
- Reuse successful creatives from top campaigns.
